KNOX OUTLINES GOP OFFERS AT INDIANA RALLY

Says Government Is Worst Managed Business In World

Connersville, Ind., Aug. 8.—(P)—Col. Frank Knox, charging the government now is "the worst managed business in the world" opened his campaign here tonight by setting out what a Republican administration would offer in place of the New Deal.

"Such a business needs a new manager," the Chicagoan told a state rally of Indiana Republicans. The scene was an outdoor meeting, in a natural amphitheatre in Roberts park at the outskirts of Connersville.

T. Flint and Malcolm Tingley, co-chairmen, estimated that the crowd in the grandstand and on the grassy outside totaled 50,000.

Telling "what the Republican party has to offer" Col. Knox declared that if successful in the fall it would give "honest business" a free hand but strike out against monopoly, sweat shops and "exploiting employers."

It proposed in addition, said Knox, to reduce taxes and "end waste of the peoples money."

"With this program in operation the forces of recovery will be unleashed," Knox asserted.

"Millions of unemployed will be returned to honest work and earned wages."

The Colonel's address in this east central Indiana city of 12,000 was the first, he said, of the Republican national campaign. It was the first major address by Col. Knox or Gov. Alf M. Landon, presidential candidate, since their acceptance speeches.

For Knox, it marked the first stop on a coast to coast stumping schedule which will take him into 35 states. His address climaxed a day and night rally in which Indiana Republicans launched their drive to regain state offices.

The meeting was held in Connersville in honor of Raymond S. Evinger, Republican nominee for governor, whose home town it is.

Salient Sentences
Connersville, Ind., Aug. 8.—(P)—Salient sentences from the address of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, Republican vice-presidential candidate, before an Indiana Republican rally here tonight:

"There will be no dirty campaign on our side. A man does not throw dirt unless his hands are in it."

"We propose to put the extortionate uneconomic monopoly out of business. The sweat-shop and the exploiting employer we intend to drive out. The man who adulterates goods . . . or sells dishonest stocks we expect to put in jail."

"The United States government is the worst managed business in the world today."

"Recovery began in 1932. We should have been entirely out of the woods by this time. We are not."

"A New York bank received . . . $782,000 for not growing sugar in Puerto Rico. I submit that in the history of the world there has never been so idiotic an economic transaction."

"We shall recognize . . . those few measures of the present administration that have been sound and fruitful. A man with both eyes shut firing a machine gun is going to hit something after a while."

"The Republican platform promises no miracles, miracles have not worked well lately. They are going out of fashion."

France Bans Exports of War Materials to Spain; Eight Powers Agree on Neutrality

Research Forum Of Scott County To Hold August Meet

Paris, Aug. 8.—(P)—France tonight banned exports of all war materials to Spain as an indication of its confidence that world powers would agree to keep out of the Spanish civil war.

The cabinet's decision that it no longer needs to reserve "liberty of action," on the shipment of war supplies following the agreement by Portugal "in principle" to remain neutral in her neighbor's revolution.

With Portugal's reply in hand, officials indicated that all nations to whom the French appealed to join a neutrality agreement in the Spanish crisis had answered favorably, despite the reservations of some.

Portugal accepted with many reservations, but sources close to the Quai D'Orsay indicated London would try to prevail on Portugal to adopt strict neutrality.

After a lengthy meeting with President Lebrun, Premier Leon Blum's cabinet also planned to launch an immediate inquiry with a view to suppressing false reports of the Spanish situation.

Britain's formal acceptance of the French proposal for an international agreement to withhold arms from both sides of the Spanish conflict was received.

Sources close to the government said Britain's support was expected to draw Germany, Italy and Portugal into final agreement despite the reservations of Premier Mussolini to the French query and the delay of an official German response.

Actual negotiations over the text of such an agreement, the same sources indicated, would probably be long. They represented the French government, however, as confident the replies for indications of adhesion already received from interested powers constituted a sufficient, temporary guarantee of non-intervention.

In a third unilateral effort to assure French neutrality the senate adopted a modified bill for nationalizing French war industries. If the measure, which must be ratified in the Chamber of Deputies where it was previously approved in its original form, becomes law it will enable the government to keep close watch on the manufacture and sale of all war materials.

The announcement of the cabinet's ban included unarmed airplanes. The government, while acting unilaterally to preserve neutrality, also urged Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany and Premier Mussolini of Italy to discard their "reservations" and wholeheartedly support the eight-power neutrality arms embargo on Spain to prevent a threat of European war.

A special cabinet meeting, with President Lebrun presiding, it was revealed, recognized frankly there is a constant and serious danger of international "incidents" in Spain, such as the alleged execution of German Nazis, which might start a general war.

The cabinet itself reaffirmed its "absolute neutrality" in Spain shortly after Germany accepted in principle the non-interference agreement, proposed by France.

(The German government from Berlin announced adherence to the understanding but with the reservation that Soviet Russia must assure its neutrality before a general European agreement can be effective.

(At the same time there was a warning to Spain that Germany would defend its nationals with cold steel if necessary. Emphasizing the stand were eight German warships in Spanish waters.)

NEW HEAT MARKS SET IN KANSAS; TROOPS ADD TO PROMISE RELIEF

Industry Begins To Feel Force Of The Drought

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(P)—At least one new heat record was set in Kansas today while weathermen of two other states—South Dakota and Illinois—were totaling temperature figures for the driest hottest July in history.

The mercury hit 110 degrees at Independence, Kas., one point above the all-time high set in 1935. At Parsons, it was 108 degrees despite 22 of an inch of rain last night. Wellington, in southwestern Kansas, reported 111 degrees.

Hard baked gullies dotted South Dakota as dry reminders of streams whose flow was never before stopped. Weatherman B. R. Laskowski looked at his books for July and announced that the state had both frozen and "boiled" thus far in 1936.

At McIntosh, thermometer columns dropped to 58.8 degrees below zero in February. On July 5, it was 120 above in Gann Valley—a range of 178.8 points, one less than the difference between freezing and boiling water.

In Illinois, July was one, long hot wave. Temperatures rose to 115 degrees. Rainfall averaged 1.21 inches, 2.94 below normal, the driest in the weatherman's memory.

With Canada reporting the shortest wheat crop in years, the drought was marked down definitely in grainmen's calendars as "much worse" than 1934.

Industry began to feel the pinch of the dry weather. In Chicago, the International Harvester Company laid off thousands of workers because of decreased demand for farm machines. In Pittsburgh, some steel orders were cancelled.

Country merchants in the St. Paul-Minneapolis area were reported "still optimistic," however, in reports from the Department of Commerce at Washington.

Some relief, in the form of cooler weather, was promised Minnesota and the Dakotas over the week-end. The remainder of the drought belt was to blister again, the weather bureau said, but rains were forecast for southern Illinois and Indiana.

Rebel Headquarters, Burgos, Spain, Aug. 8.—(P)—Mola from the north and Franco from the south was the strategy brought into action tonight against Madrid.

Gen. Emilio Mola, northern commander of Fascist forces, began moving reinforcements to the Guadarrama front in the mountains and preparing the terrain for a decisive advance against the capital.

At the same time Gen. Francisco Franco, commander in chief of the Fascists, steadily advanced in southern Spain toward Madrid with Moroccan troops which have been brought in the past few days by airplane and ship from Spanish Morocco.

New contingents, rebel dispatches said, succeeded in crossing the Straits from Morocco to Spain and joined the rebel advance.

Reports declared another rebel column under Gen. Denito was moving toward Madrid after capturing Sigüenza and Alcolea northeast of Madrid.

SUNFLOWERS WORRY DEMOCRAT SHERIFF

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 8.—(P)—Sheriff Michael Breen, a Democrat of the first water, was considerably embarrassed today by the courthouse flower bed. What he thought were dahlias or something when he had them planted blossomed as sunflowers, floral emblem of his arch foes, the Republicans.

Anti-New Deal Democrats Form New Organization to Fight Roosevelt Election

Detroit, Aug. 8.—(P)—A new political organization to be known as "the National Jeffersonian Democrats," was formed here today in an effort to rally anti-New Deal Democrats into active opposition to the re-election of President Roosevelt.

While renouncing President Roosevelt, the conference did not endorse any other candidate.

At the head of the new organization is James A. Reed, Democratic former senator from Missouri, who announced plans for sending speakers "into every state in the union" and for machinery roughly paralleling that of the two major parties.

Hasten Plans for State Fair Which Begins Saturday

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 8.—(P)—A crew of 500 workmen today rushed the final grooming of the Illinois State Fair grounds, buildings and exhibits preparatory to receiving a million thrill seekers for nine days beginning next Saturday when the state's 84th annual exposition will open.

Given a break by weather, E. E. Irwin, general manager of the big show, said the attendance would go even higher than a million persons "for we've done everything we can to attract every class of persons this year."

There will be automobile and horse racing, bands in every direction, horse and stock shows, baby contests, beautiful girls competing for the title of "Miss Illinois," a blaring midway, 500 square yards of exhibits and concessions—in fact, "something for everyone" for 17 hours daily from Aug. 13 to 23, inclusive.

Every day will have a special significance with the inaugural program appropriately titled as "Thrill Day."

Outside the amphitheater, in other parts of the $2,000,000 grounds, exhibits will be in full swing, with the National Swine Show getting under way. In the evening, for the second time in the history of the WLS Barn Dance radio show the entire cast will appear outside Chicago, giving a four-hour performance. The society horse show, in previous years a "sell-out" attraction, also will begin Saturday night.

Sunday will be Veterans Day with the fair given over to contests of bands, drum and bugle corps and drill teams.

Wednesday, with the arrival of hundreds of Republicans, the fair will go "political," with Democrats to follow them Thursday on Governor's Day with a speaker of national prominence.

Federal Aid to Be Given State for Highways This Year

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 8.—(P)—A federal aid program for the expenditure of $10,824,000 on Illinois highways in 1936 and 1937 with the approval of the United States Bureau of Public Roads was announced by state officials today.

With 72 projects already approved, $5,658,774 of state funds is to be matched by $5,165,226 from the federal government.

Governor Horner said the state is awaiting approval of an additional $3,182,000 highway improvement program submitted to the Public Works Administration, which has been asked to finance 45 per cent or approximately $3,500,000 of the cost.

The Department of Public Works and Buildings said it would take bids as rapidly as possible in proceeding with the federally approved construction.

The bulk of the proposed PWA road program is concentrated in the Chicago and East St. Louis areas where federal regulations as to hours and wages. Some of the projects approved are as follows:

FA 158, Calhoun-Pike counties, Hamburg to Kinderhook, bridges and approaches, estimated cost, $240,000.

One Dead As Workers Battle Fires Over Wide Area

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 8.—(P)—Gov. Floyd R. Olson tonight authorized mobilization of the Duluth National Guard for eventualities growing out of a rampant forest fire in the Markham-Palo district.

Twenty-five military vehicles were prepared for immediate duty. On orders from Adjutant Ellard A. Walsh, Commander Col. Elmer W. McDevitt of the 15th Field Artillery quartered 300 men in the Duluth armory prepared to leave at a moment's notice.

Simultaneously, it was reported, rain had "knocked down" the blaze.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 8.—(P)—A three-mile wide brush and forest fire in which at least one person perished and several were missing, raged uncontrolled tonight toward 125 evacuated farms in the Makinen-Palo district of the Superior National Forest.

A crew of 1,000 CCC youths and laborers fought the roaring blaze that has destroyed at least 36 farm homes and seared 15,000 acres 50 miles north of Duluth.

An unidentified man was burned to death in the Alfred Maki cabin eight miles south of Aurora. The parents of Arvid Maki, who resided on a farm near Aurora were missing. Hundreds of refugees were being housed at that town late today.

Many of them had suffered burns and told stories of narrow escapes.

Fires flared at scattered points throughout the tinder-dry Minnesota-Wisconsin north woods today as forestry officials, sounding a general call for all available firefighters, ordered every CCC camp on duty.

Grover Conzet, state forester, estimated there were 2,600 fires in Minnesota alone, 25 of which were out of control.

Use of naval seaplanes to aid the National Park Service in fighting a forest blaze at Isle Royale, Mich., was authorized by Washington officials.

More than 1,000 men battled flames in the Brule river district of northern Wisconsin.

All WPA workers in Douglas county (Wis.) were assigned to fire duty and sheriff's deputies went up and down the streets at Superior ordering idle men to the fire lines.

Approximately 2,500 men were combating a dozen fires in that area. Undersecretary William Healy said the homes of 12 Douglas county farmers have been destroyed. Scott McLean, deputy state fire marshal, said incendiarism was suspected in several fires.

Still another critical situation developed late today at Moose Lake, Minn., where a fire in 1918 took 400 lives and destroyed $60,000,000 in property including several towns. Farm residents near the village fled their homes before a spreading peat and brush fire.

The villages of Makinen, Palo and Markham were threatened by the Superior forest fire early today when a shift in wind turned the flames toward neighboring farms.

Property and livestock damage to the area already is counted in thousands of dollars.

A Lesson From The Life of a Pioneer

In his address at the Waverly picnic Thursday afternoon, C. Wayland Brooks, Republican candidate for governor, happily referred to Waverly's preacher-statesman who was starting his illustrious career, both as preacher and statesman, a little over one hundred years ago—Rev. Newton Cloud. It was so long ago that "Uncle Newt," as he was known in his late years, occupied the center of the political stage, that only a few of the older people of the community remember him.

Happy memories came to those of advanced age who recall their association with him when he was recognized as a leader in political circles, but who was just a plain citizen and friendly neighbor when at his home on "Cloud's Lane," a short distance west of Waverly, near Appolonia church.

Rev. Newton Cloud's record speaks for itself. He settled two miles west of the present site of Waverly in 1827, eight years before Waverly started. He became a Methodist minister the year he came to the Waverly community and continued as a preacher until his death, July 22, 1877, a period of fifty years. Rev. Cloud served as a member of the Illinois House of Representatives eight sessions, the seventh, ninth, tenth, thirteenth, fourteenth as Clerk, fifteenth as Speaker, and the twenty-seventh. He served in the state senate two terms, the sixteenth and seventeenth and was president of the Constitutional Convention of 1847. Cloud was a candidate for Speaker of the Tenth Session of the Legislature (1836-38) and though defeated he received the votes of both Lincoln and Douglas. Speaking of this, the Tenth Session, John Moses on Page 407 of his "Illinois, Historical and Statistical," says: "The Tenth General Assembly which convened December 5, 1836, was one of the most remarkable bodies of law makers which ever assembled in the legislative halls of Illinois or any other state. None of its successors has even approached it in respect to intellectual calibre, nor has the roll of any included so many names destined to become historic in the annals, not only of the state, but the nation."

Mr. Brooks not only brought to the attention of the younger generation that Waverly produced one of the great men of Illinois history, he drew a lesson for the youth of today from the career of Newton Cloud. It is a matter of record that Lincoln and Douglas, both new members of the Illinois General Assembly, had a high regard for Cloud. In the Speakership contest in the 10th session (1836-38) Lincoln and Douglas both cast their votes for Cloud. Cloud was defeated in that session, but was elected Speaker of the 15th session. Because of the fact that both Lincoln and Douglas voted for Cloud Mr. Brooks pointed out that it was a symbol that should guide the thoughts of the people today—that they should not be blind partisans, but should vote for men and measures in which they believed without regard to party affiliation.

In connection with this thought of non-partisanship it is worthy of being recalled at this time that "Uncle Newt," a staunch Democrat, was a close neighbor and intimate friend of John M. Criswell, life long Republican, and Waverly's last surviving veteran of the Civil War, who died last week. Many of Mr. Criswell's most pleasant moments in his last years were conversations about the days when he and Newton Cloud were young men together.

Surviving today are four substantial and respected residents of Waverly, granddaughters of Rev. Cloud: Miss Bessie Cloud, Mrs. Earl Chalmers, Miss Geraldine Cloud, and Mrs. Jessie Samples. They are daughters of George Newton Cloud who died May 12, 1931, at the age of 71 years. George Newton Cloud, an orphan, was reared by his grandfather, Rev. Newton Cloud.

And so it was especially fitting that Thursday's picnic speaker should allude to this great pioneer resident of the Waverly community and recall his splendid record and the lesson it teaches.

Memorial Delay

Plans for a memorial honoring the late Henry T. Rainey have come to a temporary halt with the recent action of the Carrollton City Council rejecting the site proposed by the commission.

The latter body submitted a resolution providing that the American Legion park be used, and that the city be responsible for future maintenance of the grounds.

The committee felt that this park was the best place for the memorial. The Carrollton council objects to taking on the care of another such plot. There are two parks in the city being maintained with tax money.

Furthermore, they say that the proposed site was deeded under certain definite conditions, with which the memorial could not conform.

It has not been made clear the exact nature of the Rainey tribute. Obviously it will be a sculptured form or group of historic significance in the center of a landscaped plot. According to the terms of the commission's resolution before the council, the financing of the project does not include future care.

In consideration of the memory that the late Speaker of the House has left for posterity and historical record, the current difficulty takes on mole-hill proportions. But the objections of the council are entirely valid and should be met with some constructive planning on the part of the commission.

A Coming Problem

Several members of the city's street maintenance department were repairing a worn spot in an asphalt leading to an alley this week. They had erected a partial halting sign to traffic, and were spreading and tamping the black mixture.

Another spectator looked ahead into the future far enough to remark on the traffic jumble he believed would occur when the pavement is wrecked on the city square.

Definite plans for the type of resurfacing to be used are vague. The city engineer has not described the procedure to be followed, but there are certain to be traffic difficulties. Parking extends over a two-hour period at present, and on Saturday night space for two and three blocks in each direction is at a premium. It is logical to expect the narrow corner pavements leading onto the square will be used as approaches to the business district.

Other new rules and precautions will be necessary. Motorists and pedestrians may well keep the coming emergency in mind and resolve to adopt actions that will make the situation more pleasant for them and traffic officers.

From Law to Leavenworth

Denver's dapper criminal lawyer, Ben B. Laska, locked the doors of his spacious office suite the other day and started under guard for 10 years in Leavenworth penitentiary. All appeals having failed, the attorney is in federal prison because he took $10,000 of the $200,000 Charles Urschel ransom money as a fee for defending Albert Bates, one of the abductors of the millionaire oil man.

Thus is chalked up a real victory for the public. Bates and his accomplice, George Kelly, used machine guns in the Urschel kidnaping, but Laska resorted to a craftier weapon—his skill as a lawyer.

If ever a sentence ought to stick, this is one. America too long has tolerated the Laska type of lawyer-lawlessness.

SO THEY SAY

At this time, when the citizens of many other nations are denied the right of suffrage, the importance of our citizens voting is greatly emphasized.

—Alfred M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee.

Some people say that the church is a refuge for weak minds. Granted. Show me any strong minds. There are always situations when the minds of any of us prove inadequate. . . . The church is for weak minds, for it strengthens them.

I don't blame a man for getting all the money he can out of his life's work, but when he steps to the plate he is up there trying to get a base hit because it gives him his greatest thrill.

—Tris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest heroes. It was pretty terrible coming over on this trip. I only had two women with me.

Bancroft Is Speaker At Zion M.E. Picnic

Political Issues Discussed By Jacksonville Man At Church Meet

H. H. Bancroft of this city was the speaker at the Zion M. E. church picnic held yesterday afternoon. Mr. Bancroft's address preceded a program of music and readings. A baseball game and other contests provided entertainment for the evening. The picnic was largely attended.

Mr. Bancroft spoke at the picnic in part as follows:

Washington in his Farewell Address said "Religion and Morality are indispensable to political prosperity."

The late Calvin Coolidge said at Philadelphia in 1926 "What this country most needs is a revival of the moral earnestness and religious devotion of the Revolutionary Fathers."

Lincoln when asked if he ever prayed replied "I have been on my knees because I knew of no other place to go."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt attended a religious service just before taking the oath of office as president. Governor Alfred M. Landon in his recent acceptance speech at Topeka said "In accepting this leadership I pray for divine guidance to make me worthy of the faith and the confidence which you have shown me."

I am not here to offend anyone by my remarks and I trust I will not be misunderstood when I say that I accepted the invitation to speak at the Zion Church picnic with the distinct understanding that I might discuss political issues as this is a political year in which most of the people are, and rightly should be, politically minded.

Our is, and has been, a government by political parties. Party responsibility is a civic responsibility that should be distinct from a blind partisanship whether you are democrats or republicans. However most people classify themselves as belonging to one of the two great parties that have governed the country alternately from time to time.

I am here this afternoon to talk to you about a new dispensation that is proposed in the platform and by the leadership of the Republican party, as distinguished from the New Deal.

Chicken supper Hebron Ch., Sept. 3, 5 p. m., 40c.

as expounded by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and his advisers, sometimes called Brain Trusters.

Under the old deal we were accustomed to the phrase "Ask and it shall be given unto you." Under the New Deal the custom appears to be "Ask and President Roosevelt and his New Dealers will bring it to you."

I am anti-New Deal in my sympathies because I am opposed to the attempt to interfere with the operation of natural laws, the regimentation of industry and agriculture. I am opposed to crop control and birth control of livestock. Since the tinkering along this line began in Washington we have had two droughts and the President has called a Drought Conference of Governors to be held at Des Moines.

Democrats of today should feel no hesitation in turning to the republicans for a means of escape from the regime that has tried experiment after experiment and failed, for the reason that Stephen A. Douglas led his followers to the support of Lincoln when the dissolution of the union was threatened. Furthermore former James A. Reed, senator from Missouri, high in the councils of the Democratic party, is quoted in the press at the recent conference of democrats held at Detroit as saying:

"We will do what we can to preserve the honor and integrity of the democratic party and to save the country from the threat of socialism, communism, bolshevism, and all the other isms that have characterized the impetuous and unpatriotic actions of the Roosevelt administration."

The anti-New Deal campaign that is now being waged is not confined to the republican party and its leaders. It transcends the limits of party lines. Democrats can enlist in this widespread opposition to the national policies of the present federal administration without embarrassment because they have the example of their former leaders James W. Davis, Alfred M. Smith, Governor Ely of Massachusetts, former Senator Reed of Missouri, Bainbridge Colby of New York and scores of other democrats who have been known as adherents of simon pure Jeffersonian principles, and who contend that those now in authority at Washington have forsaken the tenets of democracy that have been time tested and revered.

The republican party offers to the nation Alfred M. Landon and Col. Frank Knox as their representatives of a proposed new dispensation and for governor of Illinois the people of this state are offered the leadership

Russel Rummel and Miss Mary Groves Married Saturday

Former Local Teacher and Peoria Man Say Vows at Atkins Home

In a lovely home ceremony Miss Mary Elizabeth Groves, daughter of Mrs. James A. Groves, daughter of the bride of Russel Rummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rummel, of Peoria, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 8, at 2:30 at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Atkins, 225 Webster avenue.

The impressive service was read by Dr. John Edwards, district superintendent of the Methodist church, before sixty relatives and intimate friends. Mrs. Francis Plouer of this city played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bride entered with her uncle, who gave her in marriage. She was preceded by the bridesmaid, her 10-year-old niece, Patricia Lee Groves of Arlington Heights, and her sister, Miss Frances V. Groves of Chicago, as maid of honor. The bridegroom and his best man, Dr. J. Howard Siegfried of Peoria, with Rev. Edwards awaited the bride at the altar, which was arranged with ferns and white gladioli at the end of the long living room, where the couple said their marriage vows.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Plouer played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and "Salute D'Amour," and after the service Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride's gown was a floor length white lace dress with fitted jacket, long light sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was of French bridal illusion with a Juliet cap. She carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and baby's breath.

Miss Frances Groves as maid of honor was attired in a long turquoise blue taffeta gown with pink flowers at the neck line. She wore pink slippers and her arm bouquet was of Briarcliff roses.

As bridesmaid, Patricia Lee Groves wore a golden yellow taffeta dress with long puffed sleeves. Her bouquet was of Talisman roses and delphinium.

The bride's mother, Mrs. James A. Groves, was attired in a long cream lace gown over brown taffeta, and Mrs. R. W. Rummel, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue lace gown.

Following the wedding, a reception was given for the bridal party and guests. Immediately after the reception the bride and groom left for a wedding trip to northern Minnesota on the Canadian border. The bride's going away outfit was an ensemble of Dubonnet red and white chiffon with hat and other accessories to match. She wore a corsage of gardenias.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Rummel will be at home, after Aug. 23, in Peoria.

Mrs. Rummel was graduated from MacMurray College with the class of '31. She was a member of Phi Nu society and is now affiliated with the P.E.O. sisterhood. For the past two years she has been instructor in physical education in Decatur.

Mr. Rummel attended the University of New Mexico. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and is associated with his father in the interior decorating and painting business in Peoria.

Out of town guests were Robert Groves, Mrs. Marshall Field, Miss Mildred Fairclough, Mrs. Harry Izard, and Miss Irene Tayman, all of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. James E. Groves, Arlington Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Rummel, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Ticken, Miss Vina Smith, Dr. and Mrs. J. Howard Siegfried, E. Adelman, Miss May Smith, and Clarence Barr, all of Peoria; Mrs. Charles Lynn, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Van Bodengraben, Port Washington, L. I.; Miss Catherine Atkins, Ross Atkins, Mrs. John Claus, Chalon Aiken, all of Springfield, and Chester Baker of Pawnee.

PHANTOM NOISES DISTURB POPULACE

Local People Aroused by Sharp Reports Around Midnight Friday

Who was responsible for reenacting a battle of the World War Friday night on the streets of the city, nobody seemed to know Saturday. But there were plenty of citizens complaining Saturday that they had been recklessly and wantonly disturbed in their slumbers during the hours of 11 o'clock and midnight.

The bombardment sounded as if somebody had cut loose with a machine gun, defending the city from an invading army. To other persons whose imaginations got the better of them as they lay in bed trying to get back to sleep, the sharp outbursts seemed to be shots from the guns of bandits who had just staged a big robbery on the square. Still others figured that some kids were pulling off another Fourth of July by shooting some big cannon crackers which they had left over from the national holiday.

A more reliable report Saturday was that someone had an automobile rigged up so that it would make a backfire closely resembling a pistol shot. This particular person apparently took fiendish delight in seeing how much noise he could make, for he went up and down the local streets tooting his horn as well as working his chime gun, defending the city from an invading army. muffler contraption. The person who made all the undue commotion was unknown, but there were plenty of people today who said they were ready to swear out warrants for his arrest.

In 1935, coffee drinkers in the United States consumed an average of 60.5 cups of coffee each.

The Sixth Annual Chicken Supper and Burgoo of the Church of Our Saviour will be held this year on Sept. 2. Don't forget this date as this is going to be bigger and better than ever before. Everybody welcome. Come and enjoy yourself.

Well "Damp" Found By Jersey Farmer; Has Narrow Escape

Gas Extinguishes Lantern
Quickly; Other News
from County

Jerseyville.—Farmers in the vicinity of Phil's creek have encountered difficulty in cleaning out wells on account of the presence of "damps."

Frank Long of that locality was in Jerseyville Friday afternoon and reported that the well at his farm and on a farm rented by him had considerable quantities of the gas which is a form of monoxide.
"I started down in the well," said Long, "intending to clean it out. When I got about two-thirds of the way down I realized something was wrong, for I began to choke. I signaled to be drawn to the surface and after I got there we sent for a lantern and lowered it into the well. The gas was so strong that the light went out before it was anywhere near the bottom. The well is practically dry, there being little more than one foot of water in it."
Long reported that he has one field of corn in the Phil's creek bottom that promises an excellent yield for this season. "I am counting on a thousand bushels in this field," he stated. "Just now my crop is being damaged by groundhogs which are in great numbers in the Phil's creek area."

"The animals break the stalks of corn over in order to get at the ears, and they have taken at least a half acre of my crop. I believe that the bottom land corn on the farm will average fifty bushels or better to the acre."

Farmers Win Awards

Jersey county exhibitors were heavy winners at the Christian County Fair held in Taylorville this week. The Jersey herds of Ralph Erb and L. A. Landon, competing with five other herds, won the following: 2nd, 2-year-old bull; 1st, 3d, and 4th, yearling bulls; 1st, bull calf, junior champion and grand champion bull; 3d, aged cow; 1st, 2d, 3d, 2-year-old cow; 1st, 2d, 3d, yearling heifers, 18 show; 2nd, 3d, and 5th, heifer calves; junior champion female; grand champion female; 1st aged herd; 1st, get of sire; 2nd, get of sire; 1st, 2nd, and 3d, young herd. Of the 14 head in the two herds, ten were bred and raised by the exhibitors.
Juliana, Richard, Carl, Virgil, and Robert Kallal were also exhibitors at the Taylorville fair with their string of Aberdeen-Angus. Competing in the Aberdeen-Angus class was Jarrett Tolen of Springfield, whose cattle have been winners at the International Live Stock Exposition. The Kallal family had nine entries and won first on aged bull, first on yearling heifer and also won seven second prizes and one third prize on their other entries. They are showing this week at the Charleston fair and plan to make the entire fair circuit this season.

Louis Nail, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Nail of Jerseyville was an exhibitor at the fair and won several prizes. His herd of eight won the following: Grand and junior champion yearling bull; junior champion heifer; first on yearling heifer; yearling bull and junior yearling heifer; aged bull and aged herd; third on junior yearling heifer and cow. He is also exhibiting his herd at the Charleston fair this week.

Slightly Injured
Bernard Schroeder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroeder, sustained injuries of minor importance in an automobile accident west of Fieldon late Thursday night.

Schroeder was returning from work in Calhoun county where he had been engaged in reading meters for the light company holding a franchise in that vicinity. He dozed momentarily at the steering wheel, but long enough for the car to leave the highway, run down a steep embankment and collide with a tree.

Passing motorists went to the assistance of Schroeder and he was taken to the office of Dr. B. M. Brewster at Fieldon where he was given medical assistance. Schroeder was brought to the home of his parents north of Jerseyville and his condition Friday morning was reported satisfactory.

CARROLLTON PAIR TO FACE FEDERAL CHARGES IN SPRINGFIELD COURT

Springfield, Ill.—John R. Phillips, 50, and Emma Sponsler, 47, both of Carrollton, were brought to Springfield yesterday by deputy United States marshals from the state of Washington to face charges of violating the postal laws.

Phillips and Miss Sponsler are alleged to have impersonated postal inspectors and bilked George Logan, Carrollton farmer, out of $150 in December, 1934.

Postal Inspector J. A. Thompson of this city trailed the Carrollton couple to Washington and arrested them in a mountain hideout last April.

The couple yesterday was arraigned before Commissioner William B. Chittenden and their bond set at $2,500 each. Neither was able to furnish bond and they were lodged in the city prison awaiting federal grand jury action.

She plans to go to Oklahoma City, Okla., where she attended college, before going to Fort Worth and Dallas, rival Texas cities which are competing for the honor of the centennial of the state. Miss Triebert also plans to visit San Antonio, Corpus Christi, and New Orleans before returning to this city.

Three Petitions for Citizenship Papers Filed Here in Week

Circuit Clerk's Office Sets
Record for Filing This Type of Papers

What is believed to be a record was made this week by the office of Circuit Clerk Frank F. McCarthy, when three petitions for citizenship papers were accepted. The three applications are the largest number to be handled during the present clerk's term in office and he did not recall any time in the past when more petitions were filed.

Hearings on the petitions for final citizenship papers will be held the first day of the November term of court. All of the persons previously have filed their declaration of intention to take out citizenship papers, and the present petitions announce their decision to renounce allegiance to former governments and ask for citizenship rights in this country.

Sister Margaret Anne, legally known as Mary Olive Tyers, a nurse here, this morning filed her petition. The petition states that she was born in Stratford, Canada, and entered this country at Port Huron, Michigan, by railroad, June 23, 1918. The petition also states that she has lived in Jacksonville since July 1, 1931. She renounced allegiance to King Edward VIII.

Mrs. Luigia Bonaccorsia, who lives at 303 West College avenue, and describes her occupation as that of a housewife, stated in her petition that she was born at Panaron, Italy, and came to the United States, through the Port of New York, in 1930.

What is thought to be one of the most peculiar of the petitions was filed by Mrs. Christina Mendonsa, whose petition states that she came to this country from the Isle of Madeira, Portugal, in 1870. She is the wife of the late Martin Mendonsa, and has resided a large part of her life in this community.

Dr. and Mrs. Young Return from West

Spend Month Visiting with Friends and Sightseeing
Through Northwest

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Young have returned to Jacksonville after a month's vacation trip through California and the northwest. They visited in Pasadena and Alhambra, where they met Mrs. Martin Vogel, a former resident of Jacksonville and a neighbor of Dr. Young on South Main street, also her son, Earl Vogel, a boyhood friend. Mr. Vogel more recently resided in New York City, where he practiced law many years. A short time ago Mrs. Don Carlos Vogel and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vogel spent a year in Italy.

While in Pasadena, Dr. Young also saw another former Jacksonville man and a resident of South Main street, Thad Eastman, who formerly operated a grocery store on the corner of East College avenue and South Main street, but for a number of years has lived in California. Former friends of Mr. Eastman will regret to hear that he suffered an affliction of the eyes, which has rendered him totally blind and he is confined to a wheel chair.

Mr. Eastman lost a son in the airplane service during the World War. He has a daughter who is teaching in California.

In Portland, Dr. and Mrs. Young called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stevenson, who have resided in Portland for a number of years. Dr. and Mrs. Young visited many other cities in the west and Dr. Young returns to his practice after a most interesting vacation.

HAS BAD LUCK

Davenport, Ia.—(P)—Misfortune has been heaped so continuously upon the head of Mrs. Dale Steele that she doesn't believe she can stand much more, so today Davenport police were conducting a wide search for her 13-year-old daughter, Lucille.

She told police her troubles began last January when the family home burned down. In May, misfortune caught up with the family again and her husband was killed by a falling timber at the Guttenberg locks where he had found work.

"Last Friday," she related, "Lucille started for a store near the place we live now and never came back. We've looked everywhere for her."

Word has been received here from Dr. L. E. Dempke who left New York City several days ago for Europe on the big steamer S. E. Europa. He states in his letter that most every one of the ship spoke German and the band played German airs. Every one was happy and there were over two thousand passengers on the ship, mostly middle aged farmers who are making a trip to their fatherland. He states the sea has been unusually calm and the boat itself is a palace of indescribable beauty, quiet running, no tossing and no sea sickness. He says sea gulls are beginning to appear. That means we are nearing land.

U.S. Entries Sweep Decathlon, Win 400-Meter Relays; Mrs. Jarrett No Longer Amateur

Berlin, Aug. 8.—(P)—Three far western youths swept the boards for America in the Olympic decathlon competition today, led by Colorado's magnificent Glenn Morris, who smashed his own world record, sealing Olympic heights as a climax to his first year in all-round competition.

The Fort Collins automobile salesman, who got the idea admiring Jarring Jim Bausch capture another record-cracking Olympic tussle at Los Angeles in 1932, outstripped two Californians, Bob Clark and Jack Parker, while running up the amazing aggregate of 7,990 points.

The 24-year-old former Colorado State College football and track star's performance was capped by a sensational stretch spring concluding the 1,500 meter run which carried him to the top in 4:32.3, and gave him sufficient points to beat his own world mark by exactly 20 points.

Morris' exploits in the strenuous two-day, ten-event test enabled him to wipe out the Olympic record he set under the new scoring system. Bausch operated under the old system, but his figures translated total 7,398 points.

Earlier in the day, Volmar Iso-Hollo of Finland set the stage for record-smashing performances. The swift and durable Finn became the first champion to repeat as he paced the field in the 3,000 meter steeplechase final to a 9:02.8 victory. He and the next four finishers all lowered his former Olympic record of 9:14.6.

Kaarlo Tuominen, another Finn, trailed his countryman by three seconds as Alfred Dompert of Germany, producing a great stretch drive, took third, followed by Martti Matilainen of Finland and Harold Manning of Wichita, Kans., all of whom were under Iso-Hollo's 1932 mark. Tuominen's time was 9:06.8; Dompert, 9:07.2; Matilainen, 9:09; and the Kansan, 9:11.2.

The semi-final day of the blue ribbon competition also saw Jesse Owens return to competition and lead off the 400-meter relay team to a world record-equaling 40 second preliminary triumph, and the American women's 400 and men's 1,600 meter relays survive the trials and qualify for tomorrow's final.

Dusk settled down not only on the weary decathletes but also on another rip-roaring Olympic day in which assorted developments included Finland's domination of the obstacle race and the latest "Jarrett case" development whereby Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic Committee and also the A. A. U., ruled out the former backstroke queen, Eleanor Holm Jarrett, as an amateur at least while she's abroad.

Also there were repercussions over the omission of two Jewish boys, Marty Glickman and Sam Stoller, from America's 400 meter sprint relay team.

Controversial echoes rocked the press box all day while experts struggled with an endless stream of decathlon tabulations.

Mrs. Jarrett challenged Brundage's authority to order her disbanded without a hearing, while Glickman charged the track coaches with "politics" in shunting him and Stoller to the sidelines without a chance to appear in the games.

Head Coach Lawson Robertson voluntarily took the rap for deciding to put the best available quartet into the spring relay in order to insure triumph. The head coach viewed the world record-equaling performance in the trials by Owens, Ralph Metcalfe, Foy Draper and Frank Wykoff the best answer to his critics besides denying sharply that even slightest prejudice was involved.

Jesse's return to action as lead-off man forecast the Brown Buckeye's bullet's acquisition of the much prized fourth gold medal, but to bystanders it seemed like the Americans were "pouring it on."

The dispute hinged mainly on Draper's selection over Stoller, who had been assured he'd compete on the basis of trials and did not learn until this morning that he would be benched on his 21st birthday anniversary.

Glickman bitterly assailed the coaches for favoring the Californian under the circumstances which seemed likely to develop further repercussions before the 1936 books are closed.

Cubs Come From Behind in Ninth To Beat Pirates

Billy Herman's Third Double of the Game Scores Winning Run

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(P)—It took Billy Herman's third double and fourth hit today to give the Chicago Cubs a surprise 3 to 2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, but for more than two hours it looked as though he was doubling by a run as they came to bat in the ninth.

Trailing by a run as they came to bat in the ninth, the Bruins staged a two-run rally to pull the game out of the fire and give Larry French his 12th conquest of the season. English walked to open the last of the ninth, Stainback running for him.

Allen sacrificed and Hack singled to score Stainback with the tying run. Herman's third double then sent Hack home with the winning marker. Herman's final two-base coup was his 41st of the season.

French allowed eight hits to nine for Bill Sewell.

Japanese, Dutch Dominate Opening Olympic Swimming

Records Broken in 100 Meter Free Style and In Breaststroke

Berlin, Aug. 8.—(P)—The Japanese and Dutch dominated the first day of Olympic swimming competition today, leaving a string of broken records in their wake, and submerging America's hopes to a new all-time low.

The preliminary rounds saw the little brown men and women establish themselves as exorbitant favorites in the men's 100 meter freestyle, and the women's 200 meter breaststroke. The Dutch girls took what looked like a first mortgage on their 100-meter event.

American qualified its two great dash men, Peter Fick of New York, and Art Lindgren of Los Angeles, for the 100 meter semi-final, while all three of its entries in the women's 100, Katherine Rawls, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., Olive McKean, Seattle, Wash., and Bernice Lapp, Newark, N. J., survived the opening round. But there didn't look like a winner in the bunch.

In the women's breaststroke, Uncle Sam's splashers did little more than get themselves wet, finishing fifth, fifth, and fourth in three rousing heats and then going right back to the dormitory.

Top honors in the day's competition probably belonged to Masanora Yusa, who in successive heats of the men's 100-meter free style event shattered the Olympic record of 58 seconds set in 1932 at Los Angeles by Yasuji Miyazaki, who was too slow this year to make the Japanese team.

All told, the old 100 meter free style mark was bettered eight times during the trials, and at the end of the day, Taguchi and Yusa shared the new mark of 57.5.

The sturdy Hideo Maehata of Japan appeared completely to outclass the breaststroke, as he staggered the old record of 3:06.3, set by Claire Dennis of Australia in 1932, with a mark of 3:01.9. The three American entrants in the event, Dorothy Schiller, Chicago, Iris Cumming, Redondo Beach, Calif., and Ann Govednick of Chisholm, Minn., were eliminated.

Relief Bills Will Be Ready for Vote Tuesday, Green Says

Local Representative Ex- plains Handling of Various Measures

Representative Hugh Green received word Saturday from John P. Devine, speaker of the state house of representatives, that the legislature had adjourned until Monday evening, Aug. 10, at which time bills on second reading would be advanced to the third, and be ready for passage on Tuesday morning.

The House has been having perfunctory sessions this week. Representative Hugh Green explained Saturday merely, getting various bills through their readings so that they will be ready for passage this next week.

The only bills under consideration by the legislators at this time are those which are necessary to meet relief needs. These emergency laws cannot become effective unless they are passed by a two-thirds vote, so a full attendance is expected in the capitol when the House reconvenes.

County Officials Donate Funds for Old Age Program

Remit Treasurer's Fees and Set Precedent for Other Counties

Morgan county officials Saturday set an example if followed by other counties throughout the state would mean that many more of the aged in Illinois could enjoy the benefits of old age assistance. Acting through the county treasurer, the county officials ordered that the sum of $27.80, which was due the county from the State Old Age Assistance administration for treasurer's fees, be remitted to the state funds for help of the aged.

The county treasurer ordinarily collects a fee of two per cent on all funds that he handles. Last June, Governor Horner signed a bill that had been passed by the Illinois Legislature, prohibiting the deduction of these fees. Before the passage and approval of this bill, however, the county treasurer's office had owing to it $27.80 for

Attention of Mr. Henry Ford

Gentlemen:

After driving one of your Model A cars for six years and getting exceptionally fine service from it, I purchased a V-8 which I have driven a small mileage and find it to be a very satisfactory car.

Both the Model A and the V-8 appeal greatly to what little I know about mechanical design. However, the greatest pleasure I get from driving my Ford is due to my respect for the general policies of your company, and the belief that the method of making and distributing the product is a beneficial one for the people of America.

Yours very truly,

Slayer of Cass Woman Given Life Sentence (Continued from Page Ten) One contention was that the defendant shot her several times as she lay on the floor inside the hotel door. No actual eye-witnesses were heard to this effect, however. A nine and one-half year-old girl testified that she appeared at the top of the stairs and heard the following conversation as Ethel Elmore lay bleeding, Newberry standing over her with the gun in his hand. "Goodbye, Charlie." "Don't you say 'goodbye to me'!" "Goodbye, Charlie."

Slayer of Cass Woman Given Life Sentence

After the shooting, Newberry got in his car and went to Petersburg to the home of his daughter, Goldie Merritt. His confession stated that he went immediately and by way of a country lane, through Newmansville. Menard county officers apprehended him there and held him for Sheriff Gus Campbell of Cass county. Defense attorneys emphasized the repeated threats made by Ethel Elmore on the life of Newberry. The prosecution pointed out that these threats had not materialized in any action. Plea of the defense was justifiable homicide on the grounds that Newberry had reason to fear for his life in the incident described above which led to the shooting. Attorney Colburn held that Newberry had no just cause to fear Ethel Elmore, as a motive justifying the killing. He cited her dying words, "Goodbye, Charlie," even as being an indication that she held no real malice for Newberry, and his answer, "Don't say 'goodbye' to me," as indicating the defendant's frame of mind. Colburn further showed that it was reasonable to assume that if Newberry had acted in self defense he would not have fled from the city, but would have given himself up immediately with that plea. The prosecution countered with the contention that Newberry was "not himself, was bewildered," and followed his natural impulses in fleeing to his daughter's home. Following Colburn's opening argument and the arguments of defense attorneys, the court recessed for lunch. Colburn then began his rebuttal remarks at 1:30 p. m., concluding shortly after 2 o'clock. He argued that the death penalty should be brought back with a plea of guilty, showing that Newberry was guilty of murder with "malice aforethought."

His closing arguments were based on a plea for setting an example for law and order by discountenancing this killing with a verdict of guilty. Colburn made the following quotation from Scripture, "If a man shall kill the animal of another, it shall be replaced; and if any man kill another man, he shall surely die."

Judge A. Clay Williams then instructed the jury as to the law of the case, assembled the exhibits which included two blood stained garments of the slain woman, the pistol, the confession and a number of others, and charged two deputies with the conduct of the jury to the jury room at 3:15 p. m. The verdict followed four hours and fifteen minutes later.

Alton Negro Youth Killed Friday Night In Greene Accident

White Hall Driver of Car is Released On $5,000 Bond Saturday

Carrollton—Carmeth Character, 11½ year old negro boy of Alton, was killed almost instantly at 11:15 p. m. Friday near Carrollton, when the car in which he was riding collided with a car said to have been driven by S. O. Jerry Sullivan, of White Hall. Sullivan was released shortly after noon yesterday by Justice Walter Postelwaite on $5,000 bond. He is to be given a hearing here Thursday, Aug. 13 on a charge of manslaughter. His bond was signed by Otis Sullivan, E. Alton, brother of the defendant, and Mayor W. Price Lindsey of this city.

The collision occurred on a hill about 3½ miles north of Carrollton. The machine in which Character was riding was preceding a truck loaded with negro children between 7 and 18 years of age, who had been to Jacksonville to practice for a choir. Mrs. Lydia Character, mother of the victim, was riding in the automobile, in which there were four other children. The name of the driver of the car was not learned. Young Character was riding on the right hand side of the Chevrolet coach at the time of the accident. He was thrown clear of the machine, and appeared to be dead when picked up off the shoulder of the pavement.

The Character machine gave evidence of having been struck on the right side as Sullivan attempted to pass the car. The Character car turned over and landed at the side of the road, and was badly damaged. The body of the youth was taken to the Mehl and Son funeral home in Carrollton, where Coroner J. Russell Shields began an inquest early this morning. The jurors adjourned after viewing the remains until 10 a. m. Monday. The remains were removed to the home in Alton this morning. Sullivan was picked up immediately and placed in the Greene county jail. He was said to have been accompanied by his brother, George, at the time of the accident. Officials also were investigating the license plates on the car in which young Character was riding. The plates were said to have been issued for a Ford car, the owner of which was said to be Fred Carter, 1927 Grove street, West Alton. The plates were on a 1931 Chevrolet coach.

RESORT HOTEL

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ANN HAMILTON, pretty young secretary in a large business office, goes to a travel agency to make plans for her two-week vacation.

BILL WARE, travel bureau employee, persuades her to go to Lake Racine. Bill is obviously attracted by Ann, but she gives him little thought.
Ann goes to the mountain resort and at first is lonely. Then she meets RALPH SPRING, head boatman, who tells her he is not interested in girls. Ralph introduces her to JAIMIE LAIRD, wealthy playboy. Jaimie is handsome and attentive. Ann tries to persuade him to do something useful with his life but he laughs at her. She also meets LEFTY POND, married but flirtatious.

Bill Ware arrives at Lake Racine and is annoyed to find Ann with so many other admirers. He and Ann plan a mountain climbing trip.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

ANN awoke with the dream that she was sailing into a crimson sunset with Jaimie Laird at her side. The sun was streaming in her windows, and she felt a little lazy when she was awakened. It was a fine day for a sail.

She lay back in her bed and yawned luxuriously. There were only a few days each year that she could enjoy the luxury of late sleep. She pressed a button, and the waiter came to the room to take her order for breakfast in bed. This luxury was the final touch!

She didn't feel like the Ann Hamilton who pounded a typewriter the other 11 1/2 months of the year. But as she lay back, waiting for her coffee, she thought of the uniqueness of a resort hotel, isolated in a beauty spot, where people came and mingled for a brief time and then went back to their regular, ordered tasks in the workaday world.

She sensed the danger in vacation romances now, but thought she was sufficiently aware of herself to avoid them. A resort hotel was an artificial community, isolated from the home and the world's work. It was the scene of color and gaiety the

Edward Hamilton, Wayne Smith Win In News Contest

Carriers for Journal-Courier are Awarded Bicycles for Work

Edward Hamilton of Winchester, and Wayne Smith of this city, carriers for the Jacksonville Journal and Courier, won the subscription contest the newspapers have been conducting for the past six weeks. Each of these live carriers won a fine bicycle for his work.

Hamilton carries both the Journal and Courier at Winchester. When the contest started Hamilton started working and within a short time several Winchester citizens had joined in the campaign to assist their local carrier. As a result of Hamilton's hard work, he far outdistanced other carriers in the suburban territory.

Julian Baggerly, Journal and Courier carrier at Waverly, won second prize and Junior Sellers, Alsey, carrier, carried off third honors. Both of these boys received cash prizes.

Wayne Smith who won the Jacksonville division of the contest did splendid work. Smith worked night and day combining the city thoroughly for new subscriptions. Second place went to Roland Bersig, who was a few points behind Smith. Paul Mitchell, who took third place, also finished up close to the top.

During the campaign the Journal and Courier added hundreds of new subscribers to its list, greatly increasing their already large coverage of the territory it serves in Morgan, Scott, Greene, Cass and Pike counties.

In addition to the prizes given the winners, the Journal and Courier will take all boys who participated in the contest to St. Louis on August 23, to see a double-header ball game between the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dollar Day Tuesday; Great Bargain Event! Sale is City Wide

Another of those good old bargain day events is set for the people of Jacksonville and this trading area with the announcement of Dollar Day for Tuesday of this week.

Jacksonville long has been noted for its real value-giving on Dollar Day, but this time those values will be greater than ever.

Admittedly it has been a tough season on the merchants; goods have not moved as they normally should; it's been a time of abnormal temperatures and folks have shopped as little as possible.

Now the business men find their stores overstocked with seasonal merchandise that must be moved regardless of cost. And, just to make Dollar Day more worth while for you this year, many merchants are making definite reductions on recently arrived new fall goods.

There are many weeks of warm weather ahead when there will be need for light weight clothing of all sorts and merchants are making drastic cuts all along the line in order to clear these stocks. There will be appreciated reductions in house furnishings, foodstuffs, and every wanted item—not a special item here and there, but a whole city-full of timely, desirable merchandise. In fact the retail division of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce is determined to make this Dollar Day outstanding for the quality of goods offered, wide variety, and low prices charged.

Shopping will be made easier and much more satisfactory if buyers will read the advertisements in this paper and make a memorandum of the items interested in. This will save time and afford visitors to the business district a greater opportunity to window shop and to call at more stores to note the splendid selections obtainable in Jacksonville, and to learn the very modest prices charged.

It's your chance! Read the advertisements first, then visit the Jacksonville stores early.

Miss Louise Neff entertained her bridge club at her home on English Avenue on Friday evening. Miss Laura Vaughn held high score and Mrs. Russell Sarff travelers prize.

Miss Jane Lynn of Petersburg recently a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Vollmer, is an emergency patient at a Springfield hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hirt of Beardstown were Friday visitors in Chandler.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL MEET SUNDAY NIGHT

The Union Young People's organization will hold a meeting Sunday evening on the Academy Hall lawn, just south of Grace church. Before the evening services, which are scheduled to commence at 6:30 p. m., a pot luck picnic will take place, starting at 5:30 o'clock.

The meeting Sunday evening will be in charge of the Brooklyn M. E. group, and will be led by Miss Marjorie Warlick, who has arranged the program and who will serve as discussion leader. Special music will be given by the Union young people's orchestra, which will also accompany the group singing. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

Pine Woods Ravaged by Flames

Adding to the heavy toll taken by forest fires that have raged through many sections from coast to coast, this blaze swept Wisconsin pine woods, devastating thousands of acres. In the vicinity of Brule, where the fire-fighting crew shown above was enlisted, the flames threatened the Pierce estate, where President Coolidge spent his 1923 vacation.

Hillview Man Bitten By Snake Recovers

Copperhead Inflicts Several Bites When Man Falls on It Sunday

White Hall—George Newingham of Hillview has been critically ill this week on account of snake bites which he suffered last Sunday near his home. He heard a hen cackling in the weeds on the side of the bluff and went to see if he could find a stolen nest. He saw the snake and in his excitement fell on the snake which bit him several times. Mr. Newingham thought it was a copper head snake that bit him. He happened to be wearing a pair of heavy bibbed overalls or the snake would probably have bitten him many more times before he got away. His physician, Dr. A. C. Billings of Hillview reported Friday night that the patient was improving.

News Notes
Twin boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bruce of Hillview Tuesday morning. One weighed 51 pounds and the other 51 pounds.

Mrs. Priscilla Woods of Berdan, mother of George S. Woods of Hillview who had been critically ill, is improving. Her son, George, who was attending summer school at Normal, was called home Wednesday on account of her illness. He is superintendent of the Hillview schools.

Robert Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Price, spent a part of the week with his great aunt, Mrs. Sylvester Edwards on the farm south of the city. Miss Mae Nichols returned home from Hillview Friday night where she had been visiting with her aunt, Mrs. George Woods. Her cousin, Miss Ruth Woods accompanied her home, for a visit.

Jacqueline Vermillion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Vermillion of Emporia, Kansas, is here for an extended visit with her grandfather, A. L. Vermillion, her uncle, George Vermillion, and her aunt, Mrs. Kenneth Shaw.

Garfield Clark and his son of Lincoln were guests of A. L. Vermillion and other relatives here this week. David Thompson who has been here visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson since their golden wedding anniversary a week or more ago, has returned to his home in Hollywood, California.

Durand Dean Strang has employment in the American Hotel in St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Painter of Villa Grove visited with his mother, Mrs. Anna Painter in the high street neighborhood from Wednesday until Friday. Painter has been teacher of agriculture in Villa Grove for several years. His brother, Chester Painter, who is teaching the same subject in Westville Oklahoma, came Tuesday and remained until Saturday with Mrs. Painter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fraser and daughter, Eloise and Aletha, have gone to Hollis, Oklahoma for a three weeks' visit with Mrs. Fraser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Woodson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Fox of Murphysboro and their son spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lenington on the farm east of the city.

Miss Josephine Thompson, of Fulton, Arkansas, who has been spending the summer here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Thompson and other relatives, will leave Sunday for her home.

Long Hunt for Chorine, Son Ends

A 2 1/2-year world-wide search for his beautiful wife, the former Daye Dawn, once-famed chorus girl, and his son, Eugene, Jr., pictured just before their disappearance, ended when Eugene W. Weiner, wealthy New York broker, found the boy, now 6, in the custody of a Los Angeles attorney. His wife, Weiner learned, had died last March, her true identity then unknown. The pair vanished in 1934 after a court order divided the boy's custody between his parents. The attorney revealed that Eugene, Jr., had been placed with him by a former cafe owner, now in prison for mail fraud.

SWISH AGAIN IS SOUND STYLE

Chic Impossible Without It, Insists Nina Price, Otherwise Clothes Are Improperly Worn.

By MARIAN YOUNG

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
New York—"Women should learn to swish!"
From Nina Price, who has swished herself right into the profession of fashion consultant and turns ugly ducklings into birds of paradise, comes this council. Swishing, says Mrs. Price is rule No. 1 for Chic.

"If she doesn't swish, she doesn't carry her clothes well," Mrs. Price insists. "The best way to go about mastering the art is to cast off all the so-called comfortable, mannish lounging pajamas, unfitted, knee-length bathrobes (left-over from college days) and, in their place, substitute house coats and hostess gowns."

"The non-swisher slumps in the saddle, making her tailored suit look like a sack of potatoes with a string around the middle of it. Or, when in evening clothes, she runs—not sweeps—along. Worse she grasps both sides of her long gown when she starts up a flight of stairs."

Evolves Rules for Chic

The sleek, dark-haired fashion expert who was born in India (her father was a British army officer), educated in Europe (she remembers history by recalling clothes worn during the various periods), and who married and has lived in this country twenty years, believes there are definitely followable rules to guide intelligent dressing. Among them are these: "Plan your wardrobe at the beginning of each season. Get at it early, so as to have the full season's joy out of it. If you can't purchase everything at once, get what you can, but stick to your plan. Don't be tempted by bargains unless they fit into the plan. Bargains to some women are like strong drink to some men. In both cases, the results generally are regrets and headaches."

Against False Economy

"Have as few clothes as are compatible with your mode of life. Have these the tops. Decide on a color scheme and stick to it. This makes your accessories interchangeable."

"Have your hats made to order whenever possible. A quarter of an inch in width of brim or height of crown can make or ruin you. See that your coiffure has some relation to the shape of your head and face."

"Remember that chic is more to be desired than mere prettiness. The beautiful but dumb have no place in the sophisticated whirl of today."

"Be sure you are right, then swish!" Nina Price greets about fifty percent of her clients with a brief lecture on the importance of good posture and proper corseting. Then she lays down a few don'ts for all.

"Don't economize on classics. To buy the wrong suit or coat is an expensive mistake. Get the right coat, and there's no reason why you can't wear it year after year."

"Don't try to look like someone else. Get a vision of what you could be at your best, then work toward that."

"Right here is where Mrs. Price comes in. She maintains that it is difficult for anyone to be objective about herself and that many a girl has possibilities she never dreamed of. To any client, Nina Price is as lavish with praise as with criticism."

"Don't be sloppy and save your good clothes for so-called important occasions," the fashion consultant continued. "You never know who you will meet the very day you look your worst."

"Don't economize on cleaning bills. Proper and frequent cleanings prolong the life of your clothes and give you that fresh look so essential to good grooming."

Three Types Seek Advice

The women who come to the Price studio can be divided, as far as motive is concerned, into about three categories. There is the woman who is just plain tired of looking dowdy. The girl who hasn't time to shop, and hates to do it, anyway. The woman

WARNING TUESDAY IS DOLLAR DAY

in

Jacksonville and Remember—This Event is City-Wide.

JACKSONVILLE LONG HAS BEEN NOTED for its VALUE-GIVING on DOLLAR DAY, but this time the values will be GREATER THAN EVER.

ADMITTEDLY, IT HAS BEEN A TOUGH SEASON on the merchants. Goods haven't moved at their normal rate for this time of year. Temperatures for days have been abnormal—and you folks have shopped as little as possible.

NCW, THE BUSINESS MEN FIND THEMSELVES OVERSTOCKED with seasonable merchandise of all kinds that must be moved regardless of cost—and, who wants to win or win back a man's attentions.

TO MAKE IT MORE WORTH YOUR WHILE, many merchants are making cuts on new arrivals of early fall merchandise.

Mrs. Price admits that the business of collecting fine feathers to make a fine bird isn't really as simple as it sounds. She has to deal not only with figure eccentricities and the like, but, very often, with prejudices and prejudices the client has built up over a period of years.

"Becoming smart doesn't just happen. If a woman has been dowdy for twenty years, it takes more than one season, or even three, to get her educated to the idea of choosing the right clothes and what's more, knowing how to wear them. However, once the change takes place, you can't even get her to admit that she ever owned such a thing as a wrap-around house dress or a 'hat that went with everything.'"

Both a new hat and a new name are boasted by Mrs. Katherine Gibbs Mielziner—Film Actress Kay Francis—shown as she petitioned Los Angeles court to drop the name left by her last husband, Kenneth McKenna, whose real name was Mielziner. She was wearing the new military style hat as her name was legally made Katherine G. Francis.

No State Candidate Of Third Party Has Won for Sixty Years

Thompson and Jenkins, Both Veteran Campaigners, to Attempt Feat

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Two veteran campaigners, Newton Jenkins and William Hale Thompson of Chicago, at the head of the Union party's Illinois ticket in the November campaign, will attempt what hasn't been done for sixty years—the election of a statewide candidate not sponsored by either the Republican or Democratic organizations.

"Big Bill" Thompson, three times elected mayor of Chicago in rousing campaigns, has never had his name on the ballots downstate.

Thompson is running for governor and Jenkins for senator on the Union party slate headed by Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota for president.

Jenkins has been in three Republican primary campaigns for the Senate. His best showing was in 1932, when he got 253,829 votes to 284,232 for Otis F. Glenn, who again is the G.O.P. nominee. The Chicago attorney, prominent in the progressive movement, polled 109,000 primary votes in 1930 and 114,000 in 1934, running well behind the two leaders in each campaign.

This year the Union party headlines base their election hopes on the affiliation with Lemke, of followers of Father Charles E. Coughlin, and the Townsend old age pension movement.

Independent and third party candidates have been common in Illinois, but since the Civil war there was only one instance when all state-wide winners weren't backed by either the Republicans or Democrats.

Back in 1876, an independent was elected to the Senate in the person of David Davis of Bloomington, who as a friend of Abraham Lincoln was normally a Republican.

In recent years the best showing in Illinois by a third party was the La-Follette progressive presidential campaign in 1924. The late Wisconsin senator polled 432,027 votes in Illinois, more than 140,000 behind John W. Davis, the Democrat, who was badly beaten by Calvin Coolidge.

All foliage and fruit of the coconut tree comes from one bud.

Exeter

SURVEY REVEALS 'COUPLE TRADE' ENRICHES 'SHADY' TOURIST CAMPS

Dotting the country are thousands of tourist camps, such as sketched here by NEA Staff Artist Ed Gunder. The great majority of them are run on strictly legitimate business lines, but recent findings have shown that some present a growing social problem.

The rows of neat, tree-shaded "tourist cabins" that fringe the roads outside almost every town are becoming a social problem, if conditions revealed in a recent survey by the sociology department of Southern Methodist University are at all typical.

The S.M.U. survey shows that in "tourist camps" surrounding Dallas, Tex., nearly 75 per cent of the patrons are not tourists at all, but local couples who occupy the cabins for only an hour or two and then given place to others.

The investigators found that one cabin was rented sixteen times in one day; another was rented eleven times.

They found many proprietors of such camps who were quite frank in admitting that the "couple trade" was the mainstay of their business. Some admitted they actually discouraged the use of their camps by bona fide tourists.

Tourists stay all night or longer, thus tying up a cabin that might in the same period be rented several times to the "couple trade."

The S.M.U. investigators presented their facts without comment except that "It is unquestionably true that the growth of these institutions and their toleration by the community are evidences of a changed public attitude toward non-marital intimacies."

Albert L. Hooker presented in "Studies in Sociology" the results of the survey, which was conducted by Clyde Irion and a staff of student investigators. All the information was gathered at the camps, some by renting cabins and observing what went on, some by inquiry among proprietors and patrons.

The investigators found a strange development of an institution that started out a few years ago to be just what the name implied—"tourist camps." The early ones, ten years ago, were simply cleared camp sites, with common shelter or store, and water, cooking, and toilet facilities. Then the building of small cabins for rent followed. Now some of the camps are quite elaborate cabins, renting for as high as $4.

Easy to Hide Identity

Among the crowds of gypsying tourists, local couples find it easy to lose themselves and remain anonymous. Such camps are almost always located outside city limits, and thus beyond the supervision of city police or other authorities. The cabins generally are unconditionally available to anyone who has the price.

The Dallas investigators spent a night at one camp and noted that thirteen couples left the camp before midnight and twelve afterward. "At one time two cars waited beside the office until there was a vacancy," they noted.

Four girls who came in late with different parties were in evening clothes. Some twenty cabins accommodated forty-five couples that night, and forty-three of them were from Dallas. The records of one camp were made available to the investigators. They showed that in ten weeks the camp was patronized by 234 couples, 120 of them from Dallas county, and 109 of these from Dallas itself. Of the 109 Dallas couples, only seven had given their right names, judging from a check of the license plates of their parked cars.

Using similar data, the investigators drew a map on which they marked the location of homes of 163 patrons of six camps. When this map was circulated in Dallas, the domestic disturbances that followed were of almost earthquake violence.

The significant thing was that the patrons came almost entirely from the "better" parts of town. Almost no professional prostitutes were found to be operating in the camps. Some proprietors, however, supplemented their incomes by the illegal sale of contraceptives.

Tabulation indicated that some 2000 Dallas couples patronized the camps during each week-end. The entire S.M.U. study was undertaken with a view to the role played by the camps within the community studied rather than the effect on tourists and transients.

No general conclusions were drawn as to the tourist camp situation in general throughout the country, and no reflection was made on many camps which are no doubt conducted in a manner beyond reproach. The study was a purely scientific survey of a condition in a single community.

Childhood Is Best Time to Implant Knowledge of Flowers' Identities

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

It is utterly amazing how ignorant many people are about the names and identities of flowers. Not so long ago, I talked to a gardener, who of all persons on earth should know the names of the blooms he raised, but failed miserably. Right on his own premises was the largest hyacinth I have ever seen, bar none, and yet he did not know what it was.

Another time I admired the posy bed of a neighbor who had owned the property for years. I spoke of the portulacca, the marguerites and the gailardia. Said she, "I don't know the names of any of them. Tony attends to things and I never bother about what flowers are called."

Names Come Easier to Child

After all, we may say, Shakespeare or somebody wrote that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet. That is true, but in some vague way we always appreciate anything more if we can identify it by its name. I can as easily conceive of people going about without names as flowers. Or countries and towns being known as the "one with rivers," or "the city with red houses."

Everyone remembers names better when he learns them as a child. Later it becomes almost impossible to fix appellations in mind. Names of birds, animals and trees, as well as flowers, I consider more important even than dates of battles or administrations, because there is scarcely a day in which we do not meet with them in art, if not in nature.

We think that youngsters absorb flower names just from general hearsay, or from seeing them decorating our tables. Not so. They have to have their attention called to identification marks, to leaves, color and size.

Appreciation is accented by intimacy. When we know anything or anyone well enough to name it, we like it, or them, better. And so it is a good time right now to show the children what certain blooms are called. Summer is passing. After that, books will have to be our guides.

It is harder by far to stir up real enthusiasm for horticulture from plates, no matter how colorful, so let's go out and take Johnny with us. "This is verbenia. Here is a columbine. That is bergamot. Over there is the lovely phlox. Zinnias, nasturtiums, corn-flower, bachelor-buttons, Sweet William, hydrangea, poppies. There isn't room for even the commonest varieties. But even these few will add considerably to Johnny's education and enjoyment.

New Peaks Reached On Stock Market

General Motors Issues Re- port of Production

New York, Aug. 8.—(P)—The share market pushed vigorously ahead today to new average peaks since June, 1931, leaders showing advances of fractions to around 2 points along with highly unusual vitality for a week-end session.

For the first time since February of this year all three divisions of the Associated Press share average reached new tops simultaneously, while the 60-stock compilation touched its 6-year record at 69.6, up .5 of a point. The 30 industrials, at 92.0, and the 10-issue divisions of rails at 41.3 and utilities at 53.4 were each at tops for four years or longer.

Leadership was asserted by a number of rails, utilities and relatively high-priced specialties, but the gains were shown in orderly rows throughout the list. Stocks ahead outnerved losers by more than 2 to 1. The total number of issues traded, 740, was large for the abbreviated session.

With two prime pieces of news important to Wall Street scheduled after the close of share dealings, observers were particularly impressed that trading was active. Turnover in the stock exchange was $65,270 shares, the liveliest two-hour day, with one exception, since early April.

The General Motors monthly sales report showing the greatest disposal of cars and trucks for July and for the seven months in its history and the government cotton report, predicting a somewhat larger-than-expected crop of 12,481,000 bales, veteran market men said, might usually have been calculated to hold Saturday trading volume down.

"BARGAINS" ARE OUT; PEOPLE DE-
MAND REAL VALUES

Business Responds With Sound Quality

Barbecuing is a thing of the past. The days when grilling that lean, raw beef was considered a barbecue had passed. During the past two years the growing demand for quality steaks has made the word "barbecue" have a new, undesirable meaning. The word is now being used to mean that the meat is reaching the peak. No more low-price, low-quality, value, sound or taste means much more.

In every field of business the trend is to go for quality. The trend is to go for the best. From the fast-food industry down to the smallest retail store this influence is making itself felt. Naturally, because prices are skyrocketing with asser become popular, the great mass of people, barbecuing does not necessarily call for high prices.

Improved Production
Brings Value

Improved production methods, developments of raw materials, scientific discoveries, together with the application of these to the production and marketing of goods, have resulted in substantially lower unit costs. This does not mean, however, that everything is underwritten by nature. The natural rise in the cost of many commodities has much to do with the cost of all business commodities. The cost of the material and the cost of the labor in the entire scale of living, from the cost of the food and clothing to the cost of the machinery and purchasing power has risen in a general and unbalanced manner proportionately. Now, these many improvements means that you can now obtain quality at much less cost than similar quality would cost in the past. It is not for these same developments

Quality Trend General

Even income smaller purchases have become the treasure. More and more people are saving. They paid a little more but they think worth it. This reaction is a widespread, in every part of the country. In retail manufacturing centers, in great cities and small towns the call is for quality and value.

Nation-wide surveys have indicated that the loss of confidence generally has been simulated by a loss of confidence in quality and value. Which came first, that is, which is the cause and which the effect, may be difficult to determine. But what has been determined is that the loss of confidence is naturally a day value. It is not only in the higher income brackets. It is true, but right on down the ladders and executives think when it comes to making a purchase they must have value. Both sides of the coin are getting smaller. They will just live.

High Living Standards

Living in the United States and the world more than before is the American people. They have respect for the law, know the right, and are striving to improve the condition. It is the drive toward a better living. It is the responding to the call of the business enterprises look forward to the continued and increased value to quality. Plans are being formulated that leave no room for the "cheap," the strictly "bargain" or merchandise that is unwarranted, in course is for the lowest possible price on the best possible quality. This has always been true of retail merchandising, and it is true for everything American integrity once more comes to the fore. Honest craftsmanship, honest service, honest merchandising has brought us out of the depression and will lead us on to better things.

IT'S BUYING TIME
VALUES ARE BIGGER THAN EVER BEFORE

Public Interested in Value,
Quality, Style

Everybody's buying now! Results: lower prices, new merchandise, smarter styles, better quality — for less than ever before.

With business definitely on the upturn, manufacturers have been adding new improvements to their established products, and increasing their output of new, modern, better quality.

Today, with a growing demand for quality and style in medium and low priced merchandise, it has become necessary for all lines of underwear, chiefly in the way they do business, to reflect, make better products, in quantity, so that the price may be low enough to enable Victor Vroman and his family to show standards of living better than others in all parts of the

Buying Is on Upturn

Such changes have been made. Consequently, a rash of buying, especially in the building industries, has begun to sweep the country, a prediction. It is easy to understand why this is so. The American people are naturally optimistic—firm believers in the axiom that whatever goes up must come down. They believe sincerely that our country is too big to stay in an economic rut; they have faith and confidence in its leaders, who have told them that now is the time to buy, to come to the aid of their country in buying external assets.

Such widespread confidence is a vital factor, therefore, in bringing greater value offerings, and consequently prosperity, to the people not only in this community but, in the aggregate, throughout the entire breadth of our land as well. It is because of this confidence and increased buying action that prices are lower, quality goods are better, and excellent values are the order of the day.

Works in a Circle

quality merchandise at reduced prices, while upon their economic advancement. For example, When products are within the buying reach of the average man he buys gladly. He is able to buy. He takes advantage of the opportunity as he finds it. At the present time, what is the result of the increased buying? Simply this: The profit to the manufacturer, who then invests it, goes his product or at least toward more to meet the demand, at a lower price. This is what happens in mass cases; it is a well-known fact which has credit to the American way

Natural gas, with a cycle as possible only when petroleum is in great demand, is not only existent, but being sold in the world's markets. Our country are the largest distributor for them are using them purchased at power as never before only such circumstances, although their means are not nearly as great as they once were. This takes courage and faith. And it is fast to see that our people are far from lacking in these two sterling qualities. They realize that if they extend studies to the extent that they are being offered, the policy of buying and selling and thus offering the best of all continue. This is the secret cooperation of buying and selling to get the greatest rise in sales and profits to be over the country.

Style Is King, Too!

But people want more than mere workable quality. They want distinction, in a word, they want the merchandise they buy. And manufacturers, aware of this growing demand and are fulfilling it more rapidly and cheaply than ever before. This, in turn, brings about buying volume and the cycle continues, to the mutual benefit of the nation at large and the people as a group.
